Gallatin County is located in the southeastern part of Illinois, with a population of 5,291. Gallatin County is home to persons identifying themselves as White (97.3%), Black (0.8%), or Hispanic/Latino (1.9%). According to the U.S. Census, 17.5% of residents live at or below the federal poverty level (FPL), compared to the state rate of 14.4%. The median household income is $40,721 compared with the state median income of $57,166.

Children under the age of 5 years constitute approximately 5% of the population of Gallatin County. Early care and education in the county are provided by Head Start, Preschool for All (PFA), and child care settings (licensed child care centers, licensed family child care homes, and license-exempt child care centers or homes).

The Illinois Early Intervention Program (funded by IDHS) provides services in the home to children with disabilities, birth to age 3. Preschoolers with special needs (ages 3-5) may be served in PFA sites, Head Start programs, child care settings, early childhood special education classrooms, or the home.
Publicly Funded Preschool in Gallatin County

According to population estimates reported on IECAM (2013 census estimates), 57% of 3- and 4-year-old children in Gallatin County are living in families at or below 185% FPL (first PFA priority level).

The map (top right) shows the distribution of publicly funded preschool sites in Gallatin County (divided into townships). The color ramp (in the legend) indicates the percentage of 3- and 4-year-old children who live in households with an income at or below 185% FPL. Note that those townships in the darker shades of brown reveal a higher percentage of poverty. The map highlights the importance of locating PFA and Head Start sites in areas of highest need.

Child Care in Gallatin County

The map (to the right) indicates that there are no licensed child care centers, license-exempt child care centers, or licensed family child care homes in Gallatin County. At present, IECAM does not display license-exempt family child care homes. Many children across Illinois are served in child care settings such as these.
