If you are visiting IECAM, it is most likely because you need to find specific data or certain data types. Although the IECAM Web site can be overwhelming, one can easily find the data that are available on the Web site if you know where to look. Once you know the type of data available, you can begin your search.

Step 1
Once on the Home Page (iecam.illinois.edu), click on All Search Options. One of the first links you will see is the question “What data can I find on IECAM?”

Click on the link (What data can I find on IECAM?). The link will take you to a page titled “What Data Are Available on IECAM?” You will find a brief description of three different tables.
Finding Data Available on IECAM

What Data Are Available on IECAM?

- Table 1. IECAM Data: Availability of data types by year (PDF)
  This table lists what data types (early care and education services; demographics) are available on IECAM, and what years are available for those data types.

- Table 2. IECAM Data: Data types displayed by year (PDF)
  When you select a year while searching for data on IECAM, the search results for each data type display the most recent year's data up to the selected year. This may not be the same as the year you selected. (For example, you might select the year 2010, but the most recent data on population might be for 2008.) This table indicates what data year is available when you select a display year for a given data type.

- Table 3. IECAM Data: Data available by geographic region (PDF)
  This table tells you what geographic regions are available for each data type on IECAM.

Step 3

By clicking on each of the 3 tables, you are able to see which data types are available on IECAM by year (Table 1) and geographic region (Table 3). You are also able to see which data types are displayed by year (Table 2). Brief descriptions are available for each table.
